

JOURNÉE ÉTUDIANTE DE L'IBIS

SALLE HYDRO-QUÉBEC
22 AOÛT 2025

CONFÉRENCES

PHOTO BOOTH

APÉRO 5 À 7

INVITÉE D'HONNEUR: Pr. Clare Venney (University of Alberta)

Clare Venney is a molecular ecologist interested in the ecological and evolutionary implications of different sources of molecular variation. She is particularly interested in how:

- Genomic, epigenomic, and transcriptomic variation can lead to phenotypic responses to short-term environmental challenges;
- Molecular variation contributes to phenotypic differentiation,
- Molecular plasticity can lead to genetic differentiation and adaptation

